

I do not want the FCC to try and change wisconsin's law about OUR do not call list. I think the federal government has no business meddling in state business and should keep their big fat noses out. Being called by a telemarketer during dinner with your family or interrupted when you have company is extremely annoying and I will tell who ever is at the end of the other phone to never call me again. I shouldn't have to do this 18 times a year or to any affiliated company of the original one that calls. Telemarketers are evil.
